CLEAN-UP DAYS BRING RESULTS

LAC LA BICHE — The clean-up campaign continues at the lake shore where Pete Sorochan is doing a good job of clearing the underbrush and tall grass along the bank of the lake. The results of the short time spent at tidying up the lake shore are so gratifying that many are asking, "Why didn't we think about this before". Now that the lakeside is so much more attractive, local residents and tourists are spending more time at this spot where fishing is good, boating is good, swimming is good, and the view is marvelous.

Tax Collections Show Increase

LAC LA BICHE — A report from the office of the town secretary shows that tax collections for the first week after mailing notices, amounted to $6,550.07. This amount is up from the figure during the first week of 1956 collections by $1,692.63.

Last year collections during the first week were $4,857.44. A discount of 5% is allowed on current taxes paid within 30 days of issuing of tax notices, and many tax payers take advantage of this.

Lac la Biche

A young man was fined $25.00 and costs in police court recently for driving a motor vehicle while his license was suspended.

In line with the current fashion of making improvements, the Legion club house is being renovated and repaired. This will add greatly to the beauty of a naturally beautiful spot.

HOLIDAY CLOSING

For two weeks—from July 29 to August 10 inclusive—there will be no publication of this newspaper. This closing is made necessary in order to give all employees the two weeks' vacation required by the laws of the province and in keeping with our union contracts.

Due to the shortage of trained printers and pressmen, it is impossible to get replacements for employees to take their holidays in "staggered" periods throughout the summer. Therefore, we use this means to give our employees their well-earned vacation, with the promise that the day after the annual holiday period we'll all be back in full force to give you your favorite paper every week.

Reporters and local editors should mail no news during these two weeks but should try to summarize the news of the period for the following week—the week of August 12.

T. W. PUE—Editor and Publisher.

Martin McNamara, 29, Found Dead

BOYLE—Martin McNamara, 29 years old, is believed to have died by suffocation in his home here shortly after midnight last Thursday.

McNamara was found dead on his kitchen floor by a dry cleaner's delivery boy last Friday afternoon. Smoke filled the house, and a mattress was smoldering in an adjacent room.

McNamara, a truck driver, leaves a wife and four children. They were on vacation at the time of the accident.

Funeral Held For District Resident

Funeral services were held in the Amber Valley Full Gospel church for Mr. Pink Brown, who passed away at the age of 81 years in the Athabasca Municipal hospital July 11.

Left to mourn are his wife, two daughters, five sons, two sisters, two brothers and 28 grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Donald, Wilford, Bill, David, Louis and Robert Brown.

A large number of people attended the funeral and many beautiful wreaths were received from friends and relatives.

Comets Take Home Highway 46 Trophy

BOYLE—Highway 46 Pony League play ended July 4, when the Boyle Comets edged out the Lac la Biche Redlegs 5-0.

Although the Redlegs were helped by the spectacular pitching of Orville Franchuk, who struck out 12 men in 7 innings it was not enough to keep the comets from scoring two in the second, two in the third and one in the fourth. Dave Bencharsky went the route for Boyle striking out four men and walking two, but he was given firm support by third baseman Richard Grove, short stop Donald Alexander and catcher Ronald Mikulin.

In the first play-off game at Lac la Biche, the Comets walked over the Redlegs 21-1. Garry Derousseau went the route for the Comets, striking out 11 batters. Cardinal and Patterson could not stop the Comet onslaught led by Grove and Bilowis. Bilowis hit a home run with two men on, his second of the season.

A mahogany trophy, set off by three figurines, was donated to the Pony League by John Devernychuk of Boyle. At a brief ceremony at the ball diamond in Boyle, the trophy was presented to Y. Kabayama, league secretary. He accepted the trophy in the absence of D. Corse league president. Mr. Kabayama (also a Comet coach) then presented the trophy to R. Marrinier, Comet manager and Ronald Mikulin, Comet captain. The Comets earned the award by winning eight straight games in league play. The trophy is emblematic of league supremacy and will be in competition each year. It is currently displayed at the telephone office in Boyle.

The league personnel made a statement of thanks to all who assisted in making the venture successful.

Rain, Rain, Rain Cuts $1,000 Bingo

Boyle has been the centre of attraction for rain this year, and July 11, the date of the $1000 bingo was no exception.

A heavy torrent for about two hours prevented persons living on side roads from taking part.

After 10 games of bingo were played, the sad news came that enough money had not been received for the bingo to achieve the $1000 limit. The grand prize, Mr. Mikalanis announced, would be cut to $650. Anyone not wishing to continue playing, he said, could have his ticket refunded. Only two players requested refunds.

Mr. Hewko of Sarrail captured the grand prize and Boyle residents won most of the small prizes.

In the ball games earlier in the afternoon, Thorhild ladies and Athabasca men took first prizes in their respective contests.

HOLIDAY MEALS

Holiday time is outdoor meal time, be it a family picnic or snack at the fair. Food seems to taste twice as good served with lots of fresh air and a few grains of sand.

Just a word of caution for you picnic goers. Food poisoning is a real danger during the hot summer months. Unfortunately the very foods that usually appear on a picnic menu are the ones which are most susceptible to food poisoning. Ground meat, fresh or cooked, and some salad dressings are the worse. Prepare sandwich fillings and chicken as near to the time of departure as possible and refrigerate until the last minute. Add extra lemon juice or vinegar to your salad dressings to lessen the hazard of food poisoning. If sliced ham or ground meat has the least suspicion of spoilage don't use it. And be very wary of cream pies and other such desserts at a fair booth. Most of the time proper refrigeration for these foods is unobtainable and spoilage often occurs. And remember to refrigerate your own cream pies and desserts at home.

Food that is easy to pack, carry and eat is the happiest choice for a picnic menu. Elaborate cakes and fussy salads suffer considerably after a long trip in a warm car.

Rumor Of Election With Plebiscite Is Dismissed By Informed Sources

Despite a strong rumor that the Alberta government will call a general election this fall to coincide with the province-wide plebiscites on liquor outlets and egg marketing, political observers close to the government say there will be no election. "All talk of legislative dissolution is either wild guessing or poorly conceived speculation," the Sun was told.

Most of the rumor was based on belief that the expense of conducting plebiscites in October would be as great as the cost of an election. For this reason, it was surmised, Premier Manning would order dissolution of the house and endeavor to win back some of the seats lost to the Liberals at the 1955 election.

It is argued on the other side that Premier Manning would never call an election at a time when the people are being asked to give a free opinion on matters so important and decisive as liquor outlets and compulsory egg marketing boards. "Mr. Manning would never permit these matters to be mixed up in politics," a source declared.

The last plebiscite conducted in Alberta was on the question of private or public participation in a rural electrification program. The plebiscite was conducted at the same time as the election on that occasion, but the issue was not so explosive as that of liquor. A vote in favor of private enterprise was registered at that time.

The cost of a plebiscite involving enumeration and the setting up of returning offices throughout the province will run very close to the $413,904 it cost to run the 1955 general election in the estimate of government officials.

There are two methods of calling a plebiscite. One is to use the existing provisions of the Alberta Election Act, including an order by the Lieutenant Governor in Council which defines the question or questions to be asked, and also signifies the class or classes of electors to be posed the questions The second method, also initiated by O/C, sets up regulations outside the election act.

AGE PROBLEM LOOMS

One tricky problem which will have to be tackled when the liquor plebiscite is framed is the problem of age. Under Alberta election law, all persons of 19 years, otherwise qualified, may vote in a provincial election. This would normally qualify them to vote in a plebiscite.

But the Alberta Liquor Act prohibits persons under 21 years from buying or consuming liquor, or entering a place where liquor is sold. Since it would be contradictory to have those barred from drinking liquor voting on the question of liquor outlets, it is certain that plebiscite order-in-council will specifically bar the 19-20 years group from the liquor plebiscite polls.

The Sun was informed that enumeration will be "almost certain" prior to the plebiscite, unless provision is made for voters to take an oath as to qualifications at the polls. The appointment of returning offices and DRO's will be an absolute necessity.

Another aspect of the fall plebiscite and voting picture is the by-election which must be held in Calgary to fill the seat vacated by Conservative MLA Art Smith when he entered the federal election to win a seat in the Ottawa house.

This election must be held within 180 days of Mr. Smith's resignation, which became effective at the close of the last legislative session on April 11.

The Calgary seat will be contested as part of a multiple member constituency, which means that all citizens of the southern city will be entitled to vote.

Although multiple member ridings have now been abolished and the two main cities have been split into a number of separate seats, it will be impossible to follow this procedure at the byelection. Arthur Smith, the lately resigned member, was one of a group elected by the city at large and his seat must be filled in the same manner.

Estimates of the plebiscite run to 300,000. There were 589,409 qualified voters in June 29, 1955, but only 401,018 turned out. Valid votes for 202 candidates numbered 378,179, and 22,839 ballots were rejected.

Contract Awarded For Work On New Airport

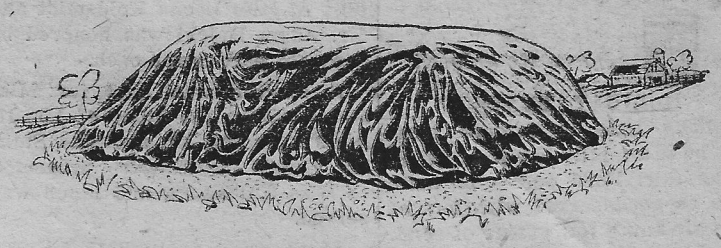
OTTAWA (BUP) — A six-and-a-half-million dollar contract has been awarded for construction of Runways, taxiways, and other facilities at the new Edmonton international airport.

Transport Minister George Hees says in Ottawa that the contract was awarded jointly to Tallman Construction Company of Winnipeg and the Terminal Construction Division of the Henry J. Kaiser Company of Canada in Montreal. Hees says they submitted the lowest of three tenders received — and work on the new airport will start immediately.

The new airport is to be ten miles south of Edmonton on the main highway between Nisku and Leduc. Five square miles have been earmarked for the terminal, and Hees says provision of sufficient land has been made to enable the airport to expand to keep up with requirements.

When completed the total cost is expected to exceed 10 million dollars . . . including the terminal building, lighting, AMD aids to air navigation. The new airport facilities are expected to be completed by 1960.

Exports of Canadian wheat in the present season up to January 23 were 139.5 million bushels compared with 110 million for the same period last year.



A sheet of black VISQUEEN polythylene film covers a loaf-shaped silo ensiling forage harvested within a short distance of the "fermentation chambers". Fence around the plastic silos restrains farm animals from damaging the air-tight cover. W. F. Macalister of Edmonton is Northern Alberta dealer for Visqueen.

MONTH'S NOTICE FOR VOTE ASKED

EDMONTON—The Edmonton trades and labor council asked the Alberta government to give the public a one-month notice at least before holding the plebiscite on liquor outlets.

Such advance notice is necessary because "intelligent decisions on such matters require adequate information, thought and debate," the council said.

A happy bridal couple in our town had just driven away from the church when they heard the angry shrill of a state trooper's siren. Embarrassed, the groom pulled over to the curb and asked what he had done.

"Nothing," said the trooper, "but I've been in front of the church for two hours directing traffic for your wedding.

"Now I want my chance to kiss the bride!"

A mid-west preacher received this thank-you letter from a bridegroom he'd married: "Dear Reverend, I want to thank you for the beautiful way you brought my happiness to a conclusion."

"Gee, did I fool that fellow. Imagine trying to make me pay him $5,000 for a fur coat."

"But I saw you sign the check."

"I know, but he'll never be able to cash it."

"Why not?"

"I didn't fill in the amount."

During an office "coffee break," a group of secretaries was discussing capital punishment. One, asked whether she would prefer electrocution or the gas chamber, answered: "Not gas! Gas makes me sick!"

The sales manager was delivering a terrific dressing down to one of his salesmen. He became so abusive in his anger that the culprit protested, saying, "Don't talk to me that way. I take orders from no one."

"That's what I'm raising hell about," snapped the manager.

Labor Notes

By CHARLES GILBERT

The liquor plebiscite announced by Premier Manning to be held in the fall has brought an immediate reaction on the part of labor in the form of a resolution asking, among other things, that the date of the plebiscite be made public at least one month in advance. It is contended in the resolution that sufficient time to discuss, pro and con, all aspects of the questions before marking the ballot is needed in order to get an intelligent expression of opinion by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public. Another thing that should be provided for in the election, the resolution contends, is that the wording on the ballot should clearly define exactly what is being voted upon. There appears to be some fear that any kind of double talk in phraseology on the ballot could cause such confusion that the purpose of the election—that of determining what the public wants—might well be lost.

Merger of labor councils in Edmonton appeared to have received another setback with the recent purchase of a building on 97th street, by a group of Edmonton Labor Council affiliates. One of the reasons for this move, of course is that the Labor Temple on 104th Street is inadequate and until a new building is erected, there is no alternative but for unions to seek quarters the best they can. However, the trend to establish permanently in separate buildings instead of making some effort to locate at a central headquarters is hardly to be considered in the best interests of labor.

The merger itself is not likely to take place until after the September convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor which takes place in Calgary, both councils having already elected delegates to this convention.

The provincial government's Board of Industrial Relations has been under fire by Alberta Federation of Labour officials because of decisions made by the board on granting certification to what is alleged to be company-dominated union (associations) in southern Alberta.

Federation officials have lodged a protest and are expected to interview the Minister of Industries and Labour on the matter this week. It is charged that certain employers have by devious ways attempted to circumvent The Alberta Labour Act, which specifically prohibits the certification of company-influenced unions.

An example of how naive some people can get—in one particular case a lawyer appearing on behalf of the alleged company-dominated group seeking certification was asked who was paying his fee. He blandly replied that he was working free gratis and there was no connection between the company and himself, and his attempt to defeat one of the principles of the act apparently met with success.

Labor no doubt will insist that any group other than bona fide national or international unions be thoroughly investigated before certification is granted in the future.

Injured Man Rescued By RCAF Crew

EDMONTON (BUP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force has completed another mercy flight to an isolated northern lake.

RCAF officials in Edmonton reported Tuesday that a helicopter had returned to the city following a flight to an isolated drilling site at Edith Lake some 100 miles northwest of Edmonton.

The flight was made to bring Dennis Orburn, injured while working with the Hasdo Seismograph Company, to Edmonton for hospital treatment.

The extent of Orburn's injuries were not disclosed.

The helicopter, piloted by Flt. Lt. J. I. Barton, commander of the helicopter school at Rivers, Man. was forced to land on the main street of the town of Fort Assiniboine on the return flight to refuel early this morning.

Barton set his helicopter down at five a.m. and managed to wake up the proprietor of a service station to obtain the needed fuel. He returned to Edmonton two hours later with his patient.

District Agriculturist Notes

By J. S. LORE

Best Weight Range for "A" Grade: Canadian hogs have been marketed in recent weeks at an average dressed carcass weight of 158 pounds, or 3 pounds heavier than the average weight for the corresponding period in 1956.

In a survey of all hogs graded during the last week in March, 1957, made by Livestock Products Graders, of the Canada Department of Agriculture, Canadian hogs produce their highest percentage of A grade carcasses in the five pound weight range of 140-144 pounds. This weight range group graded 54.9 per cent A's. As carcass weights increased, the percentage of A's decreased. Each five pounds, additional weight decreased the number of A grade carcasses by approximately 4 per cent. The weight range of 155-159 pounds, which includes the average weight of carcass now being marketed, only produced 47.6 per cent A's and at 170-174 pounds those of Grade A quality were only 35.7 per cent.

Carcass below the 140-144 range also showed a decrease in the percentage of A type and finish carcasses. The 135-139 pound group had 52.6 per cent of A grade quality and the group from 130-134, only 50.2 per cent.

The evidence from this survey would seem to indicate that the present weight range for top grade carcasses should be lowered by five pounds.

In my observation in this area, I find that most farmers try to hit the top grade A weight range. This is unfortunate since it results in poorer grades and wastage of feed. Pigs between 110-115 pounds live-weight require approximately 440 pounds of grain to put on 100 pounds weight. Between 185-205 pounds weight it requires 450 pounds of feed, and between 205-250 pounds, it requires 475 pounds of feed to put on 100 pounds. From this, you can see that when a pig gets over 200 pounds live-weight the feed consumption goes up much faster than the rate of grain. I am sure that if pigs were marketed 10-20 pounds lighter, to try to hit dressing weight of 150 pounds rather than 170 pounds, your returns would be higher since you would have a higher percentage of grade A's and considerable saving in feed. This feed could be used in marketing more hogs per year.

I think it is wise to give this serious consideration since a large percentage of grade A hogs marketed will promote more pork consumption which will in the end mean more dollars in your pocket.

Armed Services Get Pay Boost

OTTAWA — Canada's servicemen, already the world's best paid, received an average six-per-cent raise retroactive to May 1, 1957.

Besides the increase in basic pay, Defence Minister Pearkes announced a 20-per-cent boost in trades pay in an effort to retain more trained men in the services.

The increase affects 117,000 members of the regular Navy, Army and RCAF and another 56,000 reservists. Annual cost of the increase will be $30,000,000.

The higher pay scale covers all ranks up to and including the rank of the colonel and its equivalent in the navy and RCAF.

Mr. Pearkes said in a statement that armed forces pay had fallen behind comparable salaries and wages of good private employers and that this disparity had become most significant for skilled tradesmen and professional officers.

"To correct this situation and to retain in the forces the competent trained men whose services are becoming increasingly important, an increase in trades pay of 20 per cent has been granted in addition to increases in basic pay," the statement said.

There are no increases in "fringe" benefits such as subsistence, ration, marriage and separated family's allowances.

Subsistence allowances range from $61 a month for a private to $139 a month for a colonel. The ration allowance is $30 a month for all ranks. The marriage allowance is $30 a month for non-commissioned rank, $40 for commissioned. The separated family's allowances ranges from $91 a month for a private to $139 a month for a colonel.

Study Results Reveal Smokers More Prone To Die From Cancer

NEW YORK—Men who smoke cigarettes are 10 times more likely to die of lung cancer than non-smokers, the American Cancer Society reported recently.

It finds the lung cancer death rate one thousand per cent higher in smokers than among non-smokers. Smoking also boosts the chances of fatal heart attacks by 70 per cent, the society said.

These are final figures from a four-year study of 188 000 men aged 50 to 70. About 60 per cent were regular cigarette smokers, the others had not smoked.

During the four years, 11,870 died.

In lung cancer, the death rate among two-pack-a-day smokers is 64 times greater than among non-smokers.

Ex-smokers have less than half the lung cancer risk of those who kept on smoking.

Coronary heart attacks killed 5,297 of all the men in the study and 3,361 had smoked cigarettes regularly at some time. So there were 1,388 more deaths among smokers than would be expected among non-smokers. This put the risk of fatal coronaries 70 per cent higher among smokers.

Shortly after the report was made, the tobacco industry's research committee issued a statement reiterating its stand that "the causes of cancer and heart disease are not yet known to medical science."

The committee said the report did nothing to change this fact. It added that "the study itself is open to criticism as to methodology, selection of subjects and unsupported assumptions."
